Morgan's Cavalry!

BY J. A. TURNER.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS:

There were sufficient men and ample courage to defend the place, but lack of discipline, and ignorance of the simplest maneuvers neutralized every effort of Col. Landrum to concentrate his forces at the various points where their presence was needed, and after a brief resistance the place was captured while Morgan was waiting for an answer from his men to surrender.

We were fired on from both right and left flanks and the battle was on, which only lasted twenty minutes. Morgan's loss was six killed and thirteen wounded. The Union loss was twenty-three killed, forty-five wounded and about three hundred captured. From Cynthiaiana Morgan marched to Paris, where he encamped for the night and on the following morning he left for Winchester where he was joined by a company of recruits under Capt. Jennings. While Morgan was thus marching at easy stages through the northern portion of the State, awaiting his forces and recruiting his men with little loss and at trifling expense, a condition of the most perfect bewilderment seems to have taken possession of the Union forces at Lexington and Frankfort. With troops sufficient to have surrounded him at any of the points above mentioned, they were marching hither and thither, but always returning to their camps at night.

At Crab Orchard and Somerset 130 government wagons were captured and burned and several wagons loaded with blankets, shoes and other stores, much needed in the South, were taken along with the column to Sparta, Tenn. Enough of spare horses, guns and saddles were captured to supply all the men who had been left behind. In twenty-seven days Morgan had traveled over 1,000 miles, added 40,000 men to his force and paroled 1,400 volunteer troops at a loss of about sixty of his men.

Gen. Bragg and Smith were at this time making arrangements to invade Kentucky and Morgan was directed to precede them and inflict as much damage as possible upon the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. Selecting Gallatin, Tenn., as the first point to strike, he set out for that point on the 10th of August and on his way was joined by Capt. Joseph Desha with a company of the Twenty Eighth Kentucky Infantry (Union), was captured two miles distant from the town, but two miles distant from the town, but the commander, Col. Boone, slept in Gallatin. Capt. Desha was sent forward when the column had passed Hartsville to capture the Colonel, who was going upon the advice of Morgan wrote the commanding officer of the regiment to surrender without resistance. This was done and 30 officers and men were paroled and sent northward. A railroad bridge between Gallatin and Nashville was destroyed and a tunnel 800 feet long was rendered impassable for months. Two stockades were captured and 120 soldiers paroled, but the attack upon a third was repulsed with considerable loss.

A battle that took place on the following day with a detachment of cavalry under Gen. R. W. Johnson was more successful. The respective forces were about equal, with the advantage of experience largely in favor of the confederates. Gen. Johnson's entire command was swept away. He was captured and 270 of his men taken prisoners, 61 killed and 119 wounded, with a loss to the confederates of but seven killed, 16 wounded. Gen. Johnson complained but few of his men would fight in this option I differ. They attacked with spirit and without hesitation and were unable to close with us on account of their heavy loss in men and horses. They returned twice three times to the attack until they found their efforts unavailing. They could not use their Sabers, and they found their breech loading carbines of no use. Morgan made his camp at Hartsville, where on the 22nd he was joined by Forrest with a portion of his command. Col. DuPont's regiment received its twelfth company.

Began's "embalmed beef" was exposed.

"Hands off" when the brutalities in American camps were exposed.

"Hands off" when Cuba wanted to properly punish Rathbone and Neeley.

"Hands off" when General Miles wants to expose the rottenness of our imperialism in the Philippines.

"Hands off" when the investigation of the postal department began.

"Hands off" was screamed at Roosevelt when he went back hunting in Alabama for southern delegates.

"Hands off" was the reply when Foraker and Roosevelt wanted a Roosevelt plank in the Ohio platform.

And, standing in the convention, insolent as a whipped dog, seeing evidence of his waning power, "Hands off" he screams to the people of Ohio, who realize that the time has come to lay hands on him and throw him bodily out of the United States senate.

"Hands off" was the slogan of fear, the cry of distress from a frightened political criminal brought to bay at last.

It is the people's turn to say "hands off" to Mark Hanna, and they should say it loud enough that he will hear it to his dying day—Columbus Press.

A WORKING GIRL.

"God bless the girl who works" said an old stager to a Star Courier reporter at the Moore House Sunday. "There are more of her like in this world."

She is brave and true, and noble. She is not too proud to care for her own living nor ashamed to be caught her daily task. She smiles at us from behind the counter, or desk or printers case. There is a memory saved on each silent garment. She is like a brave mountaineer already far up the precipice—climbing, struggling, rejoicing. The sight of her should be an inspiration to all. It is an honor to know this girl and be worthy of her esteem. Lift your hat to her as she passes by. Her hands may be stained by dish-washing, sweeping, factory grease or printers' ink, but it is an honest hand and a helping hand. It stays misfortune from homes; it supports an invalid loved one, maybe; it is the loving, potent shield that protects many a family from the alms-house. All honor to the brave toilers."—Piano Star-Courier.

THE LAWYER'S APOLOGY.

Some years ago there was an old Judge on the bench in Berks County, whose decisions, in consequence of numerous reversals did not always command universal respect. One day, in case in which he was sitting, one of the lawyers lost patience at his inability to see things in a certain light, and in the heat of the moment, remarked that the intellect of the court was so dark a flash of lightning could not penetrate it. For this contempt the Judge showed a disposition to be very severe with the offender, and it was only after much persuasion by friends of the latter that he yielded and decided to accept a public apology. The following day the lawyer, accordingly appeared before his honor and made amends by saying:

"I regret very much that I said the intellect of the court was so dark a flash of lightning could not penetrate it. I guess it could. It is a very penetrating light."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Carroll Reid's friends, and their name is legion, rejoice in his good luck of Saturday afternoon last. He trained The Picket, who won the American Derby, the best race in America. It is a big boost for Mr. Reid, and it stamps him as one of the very greatest trainers of the day. The race was worth $2,250 to the winner and as Mr. Reid's contract calls for 10 per cent. of the winnings, it will also be a big gain for him. It was a good thing for him financially. A number of Lincoln county gentlemen, principally West Enders, held tickets on the great son of Falsetto-Victorio and they are considerably to the good by his fine work. The time was 2:33, which breaks the record for the race—Standard Interior Journal.

Mr. Reid is pleasantly remembered by a number of Columbians as a student in C. C. College when that institution was first started. He is a lover of race horses, and as a trainer, has gained a national reputation.

Dr. Parkhurst says he can supply 10,000 men either of whom would make as good a president as Roosevelt.

"Hands off," was the order when Began's "embalmed beef" was exposed.

"Hands off" when the brutalities in American camps were exposed.

"Hands off" when Cuba wanted to properly punish Rathbone and Neeley.

"Hands off" when General Miles wants to expose the rottenness of our imperialism in the Philippines.

"Hands off" when the investigation of the postal department began.

"Hands off" was screamed at Roosevelt when he went back hunting in Alabama for southern delegates.

ASSASSINS—NOT DEMOCRATS.

The editor of the Glasgow Times has been asked: "Do you know that the Harb's faction in Breckinridge county is Democratic?"

The editor of the Glasgow Times does not know that the Harb's faction in the Breckinridge county is Democratic.

The editor of the Times does know that Judge Harb's, the leader of the Breckinridge county faction, is a Democrat and a member of the Democratic State Central Committee—a position which he should at once resign, or be forced out of.

The editor of the Times does know that J. B. Marcus was assassinated just after he fled notice of contest for office in Breckinridge county, and that Jett, a nephew of Judge Harb's, is on trial for the murder.

But what has any of this, or all of this, to do with the present condition of affairs in Breckinridge? No Democrat has any more right to assassinate a Republican than has a Republican to shoot a Democrat in the back. The assassin belongs to no party. He is an outlaw, a bloodthirsty beast, whose execution is the duty of every brave, honest man. It is true that the murderers and assassins of Breckinridge county are Democrats, then so much the more and stronger the reason why they should be relentlessly hunted down and brought to justice. Democracy is not the party of assassination.

The outlaws who are murdering citizens and burning homes in Breckinridge county are assassins—not Democrats.

FROM TEXAS.

ABBOTT, TEX., June 24, 1903.

Editor News:

It has been some time since I left my "old Kentucky home" and friends. I often think of them, so I take the privilege of writing a letter to all through the News. I am located 2 1/2 miles east of Abbott, a small station on the M. K. & T. R. R., in Hill county, which is a very fertile section of black wax land. We are having good rains, which were needed. Corn is looking well, wheat and cotton and oats are fine, cotton is small, owing to so much cool weather.

In thinking of my friends at home, often wonder what they are doing. I sometimes read a letter in The News from friends in various parts of the country, which are very pleasant, one especially some time ago, from Sacramento, Ky., and J. McCool's letters are always read. Three schoolmates of my early days, I remember with pleasure, one in the South practicing his profession—in Gallatin, Ala.—another on the head waters of Pettit's Fork, and the third, the Lord only knows where. When last heard from he was serving as a soldier in a foreign country. Would like to hear from all three through the News for they must be readers of it. I would also be glad to read items from Rocky Hill. Wishing the News and its force much success, will close for this time.

BURNED AT THE STAKE.

Wilmington, Del., June 28.—A mob last night burned George F. White, a negro, at the stake at Price's Corners, four miles from Wilmington. The mob, consisting of 4,000 persons, stormed the workhouse, where White was confined on a charge of having assaulted and stabbed to death Miss Helen S. Bishop, the seventeen-year-old daughter of the Rev. Dr. A. E. Bishop. The crime was committed last Monday afternoon and ever since then there had been mutterings of lynching the man. During the attack on the jail four of the mob were shot by the prison guards. Before the torch was applied the negro confessed his guilt.

Weak and older people are more or less afflicted from inactivity of the kidneys. With feebleness and age the kidneys become sluggish and do not expel the impurities from the system that nature intended they should. For the purpose of Gay-U-ba is especially intended; it assists nature by restoring the kidneys to a healthy and active condition. Sold by M. Craven.

MAKING SURE.

Picking up the speaking tube the managing editor called down to his chief assistant:

"Has the president of the First National bank read proof on the editorial page?"

"Yes, sir."

"Has the general manager of Street Railway company made his corrections?"

"Yes, sir."

"Has the president of the Consolidated Steel company put on his O. K.?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you made the corrections ordered by the first vice president of the N. Y. & Z. railroad?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you sure that the Eastern Confederated Telegraph and Telephone company is satisfied with the editorial on public ownership?"

"Yes, sir."

"All right. Run a red line across the top of the first page saying 'The Bugle is the people's paper, and start the press.'"

Senator Blackburn favors the nomination of Senator Gorman for the Presidency.

A short time ago a Topeka young lady was troubled with a boil on her knee which grew so bad that she thought it necessary to call a physician. She had formed a dislike for the family physician, so her father suggested several others, and finally said that he would call in the physician with the homeopathic case who passed the house every day. They kept the lookout for him, and when he came along he was called in. The young lady modestly showed him the disabled member. The little man looked at it and said: "Why, that is pretty bad." "Well," she said, "what must I do?" "If I were you," he answered, "I would send for a physician. I am a piano tuner."—Ex.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

The wife of J. K. Miller shot and instantly killed by unknown parties.

MILLER SHOT—IN THE HAND.

Last Saturday night unknown parties entered the home of J. K. Miller, who lives near Greenville, this county. The house was between eleven and twelve o'clock and when the parties reached the front door they were in the door of the dwelling and knocked. Mr. Miller got up, opened the door and was immediately seized by two men, saying "you are the man we want." This announcement frightened Mr. Miller and he jerked loose and closed the door. As this juncture a volley of shots was fired through the door into the house. Mr. Miller received one shot in a hand, and a fatal bullet struck Mrs. Miller in the chest, killing her almost instantly.

It was a very dark night and Mr. Miller had a few dark assistants were in the house. The men were small men. The good citizens in the neighborhood said that Miller has been suspected as a dealer in whisky, and the females of the town at that time, but no one was sure. Hence we conclude that whisky and bad women were the cause of the murder. The authorities will investigate the murder. Miller received a $10 subscription to be paid on or before September of this year. This act is purely voluntary and given in the interest of an institution of great worth to this part of the State.

Mr. Melvin A. Taylor, formerly of Adams county, and Mr. Horst B. Porter comprise a new law firm at Hillsboro, Texas. The mirror, published in this city, in discussing article on the partnership, says "The law firm, the junior member, has only been in the practice a short while but he is one of our best citizens, a man who has as many friends and as few enemies as a man that ever spent his days within our county. Mr. Taylor is a Christian gentleman of the highest type and his efforts and purposes are directed toward the accomplishing of good in every avenue in which he worked. As a lawyer, he has watched the interest of his district and county with fidelity which no one has manifested in all his dealings. In his private, Mascolo religious walks he has lived that his life is truly commendable in the highest degree. For many years he has been the peace-maker in his section, the reliever of distress and suffering where his efforts could be of any aid, and all along through life, as a local minister, he admonished the people to lead a better life. He has been a man of the path of life and live to meet their Maker. He has not overpaid his noble qualities nor exalt his true virtues. His life has been rounded up full of good results and abundant evidence that he has gone to the mansion above."

Mr. Loy was in his 59th year of life, and his death was due to pulmonary trouble. For a year he had gradually been declining and for the last few months had been confined to his room. He has a local minister in the Methodist church, and an ardent and enthusiastic member of the Masonic Fraternity. He leaves a wife and several children. The funeral at 10 o'clock Sunday, at 1 p. m., by his last wish, was held at the residence of Mr. John Hays of Knob Lick, and she and her cousin, Miss Reta Riffe, were returning from Glasgow and were about one mile from the place where the murder was committed. The bride broke and they were unable to control the horse. Miss Hays was thrown from the buggy, breaking her neck and crushing her head. Miss Riffe jumped from the vehicle, but did not seriously hurt. She remained unconscious for some time. The young lady who met death was buried Thursday, many relatives and friends being present.

Some time ago we published a statement from the Cincinnati Enquirer concerning the arrest of Mont W. Brockman at Hot Springs, Ark., in which the following language was used: "The wife of the accused man is also in jail and says that five or six other persons are implicated with her husband." It has since been learned that a character exists in that neighborhood and for the good of that section we cheerfully state that we know of nothing to implicate any one or of any suspicions that the above quotation is correct in that particular and so far as that statement is concerned it does not follow that the parties live in that section, as Brockman informed the authorities that he got the spurious bills in Louisville.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

It was a very dark night and Mr. Miller had a few dark assistants were in the house. The men were small men. The good citizens in the neighborhood said that Miller has been suspected as a dealer in whisky, and the females of the town at that time, but no one was sure. Hence we conclude that whisky and bad women were the cause of the murder. The authorities will investigate the murder. Miller received a $10 subscription to be paid on or before September of this year. This act is purely voluntary and given in the interest of an institution of great worth to this part of the State.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

Edmonton, Ky. June 25.

Special to the News.

Miss Lucille Hays, a beautiful young lady, was killed last Wednesday by a runaway horse. She was a daughter of Mr. John Hays of Knob Lick, and she and her cousin, Miss Reta Riffe, were returning from Glasgow and were about one mile from the place where the murder was committed. The bride broke and they were unable to control the horse. Miss Hays was thrown from the buggy, breaking her neck and crushing her head. Mr. J. W. Johnston is not willing to live in a community without giving aid to its public enterprises. Last year when an effort was being made to secure subscriptions to the school now under course of construction here, Mr. Johnston stated that he could not contribute at that time, but that his property has come his way and he has subscribed $25 to the bridge over the creek and last week he came to the relief of the school and gave a $10 subscription to be paid on or before September of this year. This act is purely voluntary and given in the interest of an institution of great worth to this part of the State.

MIDDLEBURG.

Owing to the fact that this is the most important part of the Eleventh Congressional district, and one of the few places where a Democrat can be elected even to the office of justice of peace in said district, we think it not too much to say that we are occasionally represented in your paper. Therefore, the following few items are furnished for publication.

Corn, though small, looks well in this section. What is little about a half crop.

Jason Wesley is all smiles since his victory Monday. He seems to be confident of victory in the end.

Mrs. Annie Lamban, who keeps the saloon at Yosemite, pulled the gate on Walter Wilkinson a colored transfer, who had been evading the payment of toll for some time, when he urged his team on and pulled the gate down. He has been arrested.

"Capt. Ed Polley's title to a seat in the Kentucky Legislature is not as clear as it was before his high handed dealings in the Liberty meeting," said a prominent Republican to us a few days ago.

Edward Lucas, an old and respected citizen of this section died at his home of town on the 25th inst. After funeral services by his pastor, Rev. B. Ferrell, the remains were laid to rest in the Middleburg cemetery.

The post office here has been moved to Phil, at least that is what some of the patrons are saying since its removal to C. L. Brui's store in the south end of town. It is a little out of town, but it will not take so long as Roosevelt does not take it away from us entirely.

The meeting of the Republican County Committee at Liberty Monday, June 22nd for the purpose of selecting the Liberty-Wesley contest over the circuit clerkship, was anything but a harmonious one. On assembling chairman Ed Polley announced that the Liberty-Wesley contest was in the board of committee cause by the removal of W. H. Brown from the North Liberty precinct to Danville. Brown was on hand, however, and claimed his seat. A motion was made to declare a vacancy and to fill it by the election of Mr. H. Kidd, which was strenuously opposed by the Gibbons faction, and a regular tumult raised, and things looked a little ugly. In the end of it, Chairman Polley declared the motion out of order, but an appeal was taken, and the chair was reversed by a majority of one. Kidd was not elected and instead of Brown. This so incensed Gibbons side of the house that they left the room and proceeded to fill the circuit clerk's office where they set it a little "side bang" of their own. They sent back for chairman Polley to come and join them. He refused at first, but afterwards went, but after some weary waiting, returning bringing with him the Gibbonites, who on assembling, Polley still recognizing Brown as a committeeman told him to vote, which he pretended to do, which if it had been counted would have been a tie. Polley considered it and adjourned the meeting. The Wesley side of the house, however kept their seats and as soon as quiet was restored, selected a temporary chairman and proceeded to business. When left at 3 o'clock, P. H. Taylor, attorney for Wesley, was in the midst of a red hot speech in which he was literally roasting certain members of the committee for their conduct in declaring Gibbons the nominee in the January convention. The Gibbons faction learned that a primary election was ordered, though it is said that Gibbons will ignore the order altogether, and push his own man.

Chairman Polley was severely denounced for his high handed rulings and they did look after that fashion, but it was none of our "business" and we withhold our opinion for the present. It is a sweet mood to say the least, but just let 'em fight out, while we boys in the trenches look on and laugh.

THE FLOP TOGETHER OUTLOOK

In the unfortunate Sen. Randall days great stress was laid upon the duty that in all essential things the two wings of the Democratic party should "flop together." It is not to the discredit of the Democratic party, either, that it has usually had two wings. The very spirit of democracy is such as to encourage debate, independence of thought and strife to establish a majority sentiment in the party.

The habits of the republican party is different. It is led by the official faction and the rank and file have been always drilled to follow the flag, no matter which way the losses carried.

Our venerable old friend of the marble heart, Senator Proctor, of Vermont, graciously rubs his hand over the prospect, as he sees it, that the two democratic wings will not flop together in 1904 any more than in 1896 and 1900. Because he believes they will not he naively admits that the party certainly of the republican party at this hour might get badly tangled in a bunch of interrogation points—if two wings should happen to flop together in 1904.

Unlike Senator Proctor we believe the aforesaid wings will be found flopping together in beautiful harmony shortly after this time next year. We not know, of course, what trend events may take within the twelve months, but if matters inside the party make the same rate of progress meanwhile as they have made in the past year, the democracy will enter the campaign of 1904 with measures and men that will be virile, magnetic and have an equal show for victory with the republican platform and candidates.

Men who attempt to continue or create divisions in the party ranks will be no more entitled in 1904 to be called democrats than were those who bolted and defeated the party in 1896 and 1900. The real effective democratic leaders of today are working to unite those voters of the nation who at heart are democrats, and so present to the nation a harmonious and triumphant party next year. We believe they will succeed and that whoever tries to prevent that success will be made to walk the plank. He can not claim any right as a mutineer on the democratic ship.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Prussian woman who possessed four husbands and applied the life of a fifth ought to be willing to suspend operations now and come to the philosophical conclusion that marriage is a failure.

Judge Hargis has a keen personal interest in the Let-White case. He is evidently determined to treat the boys so nice that they couldn't think of "peaching" are they drop through the trap.

Mrs. Carrie Myers, the wife of Harvey Myers, a prominent Owsboro lawyer and politician, has sued for a divorce on grounds of desertion and failure to provide.

The charge is made that President Roosevelt, during his Western trip, in the matter of his speeches, practiced a little trick on the public; that is, the speeches sent out to the public, through a representative of the Associated Press who accompanied him, were not the same made to the crowd he was addressing. It is further charged that he said some things, calculated to tickle the fancy of his Western audiences, which he would not be willing for the people of other sections of the country to hear. The trick was discovered by a Montana paper. A type-written copy of the speech he wanted the people to believe he made at that place was sent to a local paper, but the paper sent a stenographer of its own to take down what the President really said. On this occasion at least he said many things of a radical nature; things which he would not want to reach certain ears and certain business interests of the country, and which would jeopardize his chances of a re-nomination, were they reiterated in other localities.—Georgetown Times.

Mr. W. H. Cook teats the record in this county for getting his wheat crop from the field into flour. On June 11 he cut his wheat, on the 20th he had threshed, and on the 22d he had delivered it to the mill, where it will be ground into flour. From the field to the bakery in eleven days is about the quickest record for cutting and grinding wheat in this part of the State.—Smith's Grove Times.

His. E. P. Gillenwaters, of Glasgow, was nominated for State Senator by vote of the 19th district.

HE WAS A "MEAN MAN."

A Greenville merchant recently told us the following story. He says it is true. At any rate we believe it is true.

A good natured, well-behaved darkey named Joe, living in one of the North Texas towns, became disgusted with a lot of law breakers of his own color. Bad feeling was soon aroused between him and his colored brethren. One well meaning darkey took the law into his own hands by shooting and killing two of the "wretched trash." He was arrested promptly by a policeman and started towards the calaboose. Joe begged the man of the law to let him have just ten minutes and he would come right back and den he didn't care what the law did to him. "What do you want to do, Joe?" asked the policeman. "D-r's is one more of dem no count niggers I want to kill, boss, and den I has done my duty," said Joe.

After the trial at which Joe was sentenced to hang, his wife called to see him. She asked him if she might bring the children to the hanging. Joe shook his head. After awhile she insisted that his children should be present on this important occasion. Joe again shook his head and said, "I dun told yer I don't want no chillun to be at ma hangin'—a hangin' ain't no place for chillun, no how." At this his good wife grew angry and said, "Joe, you allus was a mean nigger and now you allows it. Dis is the last time you will ever have to give your own chillun plegder and youse so mean you won't do it."—Ex.

Married in Death's Shadow.

It often happens that a couple is united in marriage when one is afflicted with consumption or a deep-seated cough or cold. There's danger in this it is marrying in the shadow of death. Immediate steps should be taken to expel the trouble. There's nothing to go quickly remove the danger as Dr. King's new discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. It's equally safe and sure for lung and throat troubles. Cure is guaranteed by druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

NEGROES AND JUSTICE.

There is something wearisome and disgusting in the "damnable iteration" from northern sources that the negroes do not get justice in the courts of the south.

Suppose we say here and now that they do not—and take a couple of recent incidents to back up our conclusion!

A few days ago a negro in this city stimulated a national bank out of over $600 by a paying teller's error in handling a couple of checks. Because of the negro's previous good character, although he confessed his theft and returned the larger part of the money, no prosecutor appeared against him and he went free and unwhipped of justice! We would like a northern instance to match this case of injustice to the negro.

In Texas the supreme court has just reversed a verdict of death passed upon a young negro who was clearly convicted of a criminal assault upon a young white girl. It appeared that he was under 17 years of age and the law forbids the hanging of a person under that age. Consequently, although his guilt was plain as the sun at noon and the penalty for his crime is death he goes free of that penalty! With these cases at hand we do not think our assertion can be denied—that negroes often do not "get justice" in southern courts before white.—Atlanta Constitution.

A mob of 1,000 men surrounded the jail at Peroria, Ill., and clamored for the life of a negro who a few hours before had shot and killed Detective William E. Murphy. The absence of a leader was declared to be all that prevented the infuriated citizens from storming the prison in the face of the heavy guard thrown around by the authorities. The victim of East St. Louis, Ill., was during the afternoon and night secured by a posse of enraged farmers bent on lynching an unknown negro, who had criminally assaulted two women. One of his victims, Miss Florence Bruno, aged seventeen, will probably die. The other, Annie Green, colored, may recover.

A Shelbyville dispatch says: Hon. G. G. Gilbert has set at rest all rumors about his not being a candidate to succeed himself as Congressman by announcing positively that he will be in the race from start to finish.

Senator Hanna again declares that even if nominated for the vice presidency he would not accept it. He has no White House ambitions, he says.

President Roosevelt removed Judge McMillan, of the Supreme Court of New Mexico on the charge of general immorality.

Brutally Tortured.

A case came to light that put for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equalled. Joe Goldstick of Colusa, Calif., writes, "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across electric bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for liver and kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by druggist.

A NEAT PROGRAM.

Now that the Dedication Ceremonies of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition (the World's Fair) are so close at hand, the public is commencing to wonder what St. Louis has to offer in the way of entertainment to out-of-town visitors.

The Henderson Route (which is The World's Fair Line) has gotten out a very neat booklet, vest-pocket size, which contains the complete official program of these ceremonies.

It is a modern piece of work in every respect, printed in green and red with gray antique cover and high grade enameled book stock inside.

Copies will be gladly furnished on application.

Swallowed Diamonds.

When a smuggler of diamonds is hard pressed, he will swallow them. They are then liable to cause much annoyance. It would be better to take Dr. King's new life pills especially for constipation and stomach troubles. Better than diamonds for your health, besides they are gentle. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

No Pity Shows.

"For years fate was after me continuously" writes F. A. Gullede, Verbena, Ala. "I had a terrible case of piles causing 24 tumors. When all failed bucklen's arnica salve cured me. Equally good for burns and all aches and pains. Only 50c. at all druggists.

Matt Tracy, twenty years old, a school teacher, was arrested at Lexington and placed in jail in default of $800 bond, on the charge of peddling State and county school examination papers. He is the son of Supt. F. A. Tracy, of Powell county schools, and was caught in the act of selling the papers for $20. When arrested two other sets of papers were found on him.

Inviting premiums will be offered at the Columbia Fair.
